

COLLEGE CHURCH IN WHEATON

East Seminary Avenue and North Washington Street, Wheaton, Illinois

This congregation was founded in 1861 under the auspices of the Illinois Congregational Assembly. The first pastor was the Reverend Jonathan Blanchard, founder and first president of Wheaton College. While not formally associated with Wheaton College, the congregation has always had a close association with this educational institution. In 1878, the congregation adopted the name of the College Church of Christ. In 1963, the congregation became known as the College Church in Wheaton. For some years, the church met in Blanchard Hall on the college campus. Later, a building which is now known as Pierce Chapel was constructed jointly by the college and the church. In 1935, the church moved to the present property, adjoining the college campus. An addition to this building was built between 1948 and 1961. The present, spacious sanctuary was built in 1991 and 1992.

The Reginald Gerig Organ (College Church organist, 1953-1991) was built for the present sanctuary by the Schantz Organ Company of Orrville, Ohio. The elegant drawknob console is placed on a moveable platform at the front of the sanctuary. The Trompette-en-Chamade is not affected by couplers.
