

THE ACADEMIC MEMBERSHIP OF THE AMERICAN GUILD OF ORGANISTS

In celebration of the Centennial of the American Guild of Organists, the Committee on Professional Certification compiled a complete list of all AGO members holding FAGO, AAGO, and Choir Master certificates. (At the October meeting of the National Council, these three categories were designated as the Academic Membership.) As the Professional Certification Committee began this project, their first desire was to include all certified members, including those with the Colleague and Service Playing certificates. That task seemed too daunting for the committee and so they began with the Academic Membership. (For one reason, Service Playing Tests were originally administered and graded at the chapter level and the records are not complete.) The names are listed in alphabetical order with the year the certificate was received.

The system for compiling this list required two committee members to study each card, contained in a filing box for each exam, which listed the year the exam was administered, the exam center, the grades for each part of the exam, and the names of the examiners. Paul Wolfe, program assistant, supervised the project with the assistance of Alfred Fedak and his wife Sue, Ann Labounsky, Sue Mitchell-Wallace, Nancy Wicklund, music librarian at Westminster Choir College, John Walker, Kevin Walters, and Todd Wilson. There were several errors in the filing cards because of name changes. This list, published in its entirety for the first time, may also contain omissions and errors. Kindly communicate any knowledge you may have of these directly to Paul Wolfe at Headquarters.

These members, many of whom are deceased, represent the bedrock of our organization and its history. They demonstrate year after year the importance of education and of continuing education for Guild membership.

In celebration of our Centennial at the New York City National Convention, all certified members will be honored at a special event that is now in its planning stages. In addition, there will be newly designed and updated academic regalia, including FAGO, AAGO, and ChM hoods, robes, patches, and pins to commemorate this historic occasion. Look for a special announcement in the February issue of TAO for more details.
